ABOUT DEFENDDEFENDERS

DefendDefenders (The East and Horn of Africa Human Rights Defenders Project) seeks to strengthen the work of HRDs throughout the region by reducing their vulnerability to the risk of persecution by enhancing their capacity to effectively defend human rights. DefendDefenders focuses its work on Burundi, Djibouti, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Kenya, Rwanda, Somalia (together with Somaliland), South Sudan, Sudan, Tanzania, and Uganda.

DefendDefenders serves as the secretariat of the East and Horn of Africa Human Rights Defenders Network, which represents thousands of members consisting of individual HRDs, human rights organisations, and national coalitions that envision a sub-region in which the human rights of every citizen as stipulated in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights are respected and upheld.

DefendDefenders also serves as the secretariat of AfricanDefenders (the Pan-African Human Rights Defenders Network). AfricanDefenders coordinates activities in the areas of protection, capacity building, and advocacy across the African continent, supporting the five sub-regional networks namely: the North Africa Human Rights Defenders Network (hosted by the Cairo Institute for Human Rights Studies in Tunis, Tunisia), the West African Human Rights Defenders Network (Lomé, Togo), the Southern Africa Human Rights Defenders Network (hosted by the International Commission of Jurists in Johannesburg, South Africa), the Central Africa Human Rights Defenders Network (Douala, Cameroon), and the East and Horn of Africa Human Rights Defenders Network (hosted by DefendDefenders in Kampala, Uganda).

FOREWORD

2019 was a busy and fruitful year for DefendDefenders and AfricanDefenders. The year started with a high-level mission to the African Union (AU). I led a delegation to conduct high-level advocacy with the AU Commission through African Governance Architecture (AGA) to share views on how we would contribute to achieving the goals contained in Agenda 2063. We are finalising an MoU with AGA to consolidate our partnership. I was honoured to spend ten days in Addis Ababa and Jijiga meeting government officials, UN representatives, and CSOs. This was followed by in-depth factfinding missions, which culminated in the publication of “Turning the Page: Rebuilding Civil Society in Ethiopia.” To cap off a year of exceptional changes in the country, in December, we hosted over 60 Ethiopian HRDs for our flagship event in Addis Ababa, “Claiming Spaces: Tactical Tools for Human Rights Defenders,” which equipped participants with technical skills to enable them to effectively carry out their work. The highlight of Claiming Spaces was the historic launch of the Ethiopian Human Rights Defenders Coalition.

Ten years after the “All African Human Rights Defenders Conference” convened by DefendDefenders in 2009 in Kampala, AfricanDefenders held the Johannesburg +20 (Joburg+20) Convention in Zanzibar, Tanzania, which brought together HRDs from across Africa, Pan-African partner organisations, the highest dignitaries of the African Commission for Human and People’s Rights (ACHPR), the African Court on Human and Peoples’ Rights, and representatives of NHRIs. One important outcome of the Convention is the Kampala Plan of Action +10 (KAPA+10). On the side-lines of the Convention, we recognised outstanding African HRDs and presented them with Shield Awards for their excellent contribution and bravery in protecting human rights in Africa.

The landmark opening of an office in Geneva in 2018, the seat of the UN Human Rights Council (HRC) and the Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), bore fruit in 2019. It allowed us to enhance our engagement with the UN human rights system and advance our advocacy efforts on country-specific and thematic issues relevant to HRDs. We continued our engagement with the ACHPR, participating in its 64th and 65th ordinary sessions, in Egypt and the Gambia, respectively. We did so by delivering oral statements, submitting bi-annual reports on human rights violations, hosting side events, welcoming HRDs from the continent, including staff, to attend the sessions and influence ACHPR’s agenda and outcomes.

Sudan also weighed heavily on our minds throughout the year. I led a delegation to the country in October, in order to ascertain the situation and hold meetings with key stakeholders, including government members, HRDs, and diplomats. We look forward to continued engagement in Sudan throughout 2020 and wish to express our gratitude and respect for all those who fought bravely for freedom and human rights in the face of tremendous adversity. To the families who lost their loved ones, we want you to know that their sacrifice will not be in vain.

We continued to support HRDs through reactive protection interventions and capacity building sessions. Developing the capacities of HRDs is key in ensuring they put in place measures to limit the risks that they face. Moreover, we also published our security guide Stand Up! into four Ugandan local languages for it to be accessible to more HRDs. Our DefendersTech program continues to run innovative programmes in the sub-region which help HRDs and civil society to get the best from, and avoid the worst risks of, digital and internet technologies as the world becomes ever more connected online.

As HRDs are forced into exile, DefendDefenders and AfricanDefenders convened the second interactive dialogue between protection service providers and HRDs in exile in Uganda to discuss challenges and discuss how best they can work together to address the challenges and emerging issues. In February 2019, we launched the Ubuntu Hub Cities initiative, an African-based relocation mechanism for the holistic protection of African HRDs at risk. By relocating HRDs in a secure environment closer to home, the initiative enables them to remain safe, but not silent. It was sensational to witness the launch of an initiative that now counts six hub cities in Tunisia, Côte d'Ivoire, Uganda, and South Africa.

Throughout 2019, we came up with new and innovative ways of spreading our message and highlighting the amazing work of HRDs from across the continent. For example, DefendDefenders' and AfricanDefenders' The Three Women campaign, which includes a podcast series, in relation to 16 Days of Activism, articulates the courage demonstrated by women HRDs, and the intersectional challenges they face. To shine light on the outstanding work carried out by HRDs, we continued to, every month, profile a Human Rights Defender of the Month. We plan to continue this trend in 2020; to identify new methods and tools of communication to increase our audience and raise awareness about HRDs.

Every year, we focus on a specific theme to anchor our work and shine light on a specific issue; previous themes included journalists and marginalised HRDs. In 2019, we focused on lawyers who act as first line of defence by ensuring that citizens access justice and remedies. To that effect, in December, we published "Navigating Justice: Lawyers as Human Rights Defenders in Ethiopia and Somalia/Somaliland," which examines their work to identify their best practices, vulnerabilities, and needs in these rapidly changing environments.

While we celebrate our achievements, we must also be cognisant of the upward battle ahead of us. The fight for respect for human rights has never been easy, but we pledge to continue our efforts to support HRDs by reducing their risks, vulnerabilities, and challenges in the face of this momentous task. In return, we ask for your continued support, and hope for a 2020 filled with achievement and constructive responses to our shared challenges.

I wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude to national coalitions of HRDs and sub-regional HRD networks for their hard work and dedication – their presence on the ground and extensive networks act as the backbone of so much of our work.

Yours in Solidarity,

Hassan Shire
Executive Director, DefendDefenders
Chairperson, AfricanDefenders

HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN EAST AND HORN OF AFRICA

In 2019, we monitored and documented human rights violations across the East and Horn of Africa sub-region. More thorough analyses are available in our bi-annual reports to the ACHPR (April 2019 & October 2019), as well as on our website.

BURUNDI.

Burundi's civic and democratic space remained closed. HRDs and critics continued to be intimidated, threatened, surveilled, arbitrarily detained, and even killed. International CSOs had to leave<sup>1</sup> and OHCHR closed its Burundi office after 23 years.<sup>2</sup> The UN Commission of Inquiry (CoI) on Burundi reported increasing repression on opposition to ruling-party CNDD-FDD.<sup>3</sup>

DJIBOUTI.

Despite a healthy thawing of international relations in the Horn of Africa, Djibouti continued to repress dissent through legal and extra-legal methods, not allowing advocacy for greater democracy or human rights standards.<sup>4</sup> Djibouti ranked 173rd out of 180 countries in Reporters Without Borders' 2019 World Press Freedom Index.<sup>5</sup>

ERITREA.

Eritrea's human rights situation has not improved, even though a peace deal with Ethiopia was signed.<sup>6</sup> Cooperation with the HRC and its mechanisms remained impossible, despite Eritrea's election to the Council.<sup>7</sup> In July, the HRC extended the mandate of the UN Special Rapporteur on the country for one more year.<sup>8</sup>

ETHIOPIA.

Ethiopia's human rights record improved with its new political leadership – for his conflict resolution with Eritrea, Ahmed was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.<sup>9</sup> Several repressive laws were modified or removed and previous restrictions on CSOs were lifted,<sup>10</sup> but internal displacement, arrests of journalists,<sup>11</sup> and escalating ethnic violence<sup>12</sup> remain concerns.

KENYA.

Abuse by Kenyan security forces continued in 2019, exacerbated by counter terrorism efforts.<sup>13</sup> Lack of investigation into disappearances and extrajudicial killings, is particularly concerning for HRDs. Criminalisation of same-sex intercourse was upheld in court after a three-year legal battle.<sup>14</sup>

RWANDA.

Rwanda curtailed rights to free expression, association and peaceful assembly. Opposition leaders were stifled and intimidated.<sup>15</sup> Rwandan President and East Africa Community (EAC) Chair, Paul Kagame, cancelled the EAC Heads of States Summit slated for end of November 2019.<sup>16</sup>

SOMALIA AND SOMALILAND.

While Somalia made strides in establishing a more cohesive central government, repression of journalists remains a serious cause for concern.<sup>17</sup> Somalia renewed commitments to halt child soldiers,<sup>18</sup> but security forces fighting Al-Shabaab militants had to be reminded to protect children.

SOUTH SUDAN.

Despite a peace deal, fighting in South Sudan continued and the formation of a unity government was postponed to 2020.<sup>19</sup> South Sudan's justice system and impunity for crimes against humanity raised concern.<sup>20</sup>

SUDAN.

Security forces attacked, detained, and killed peaceful demonstrators, who ousted Omar Al-Bashir. The 3 June massacre in particular will be investigated for crimes against humanity.<sup>21</sup> In August, a power-sharing agreement was signed, paving the way for a civilian-led government.<sup>22</sup>

TANZANIA.

The crack down on press freedom and freedom of expression continued in Tanzania.<sup>23</sup> Civic space was continuously closed<sup>24</sup> and CIVICUS' Civic Space Monitor re-classified Tanzania as "repressed," rather than "obstructed" in November 2019.

UGANDA.

In August 2019 mandatory death penalty for certain crimes was abolished. Transparency International ranked Uganda 149 out of 180 in its 2018 Corruption Perception Index.<sup>25</sup> Attacks on Uganda's sexual minority community intensified in 2019.<sup>26,27</sup>

ACCELERATING HRD PROTECTION & SECURITY MANAGEMENT

EMERGENCY PROTECTION SUPPORT

We enhanced access to emergency response for HRDs at imminent risk

Graph 1 shows the outcomes of our 331 emergency protection requests in 2019:

We continued to operate our 24/7 emergency phone line and provided safe spaces for HRDs. Additionally, to our emergency support, in 2019 we also supported 50 HRDs with immigration queries, legal support, travel accompaniment, counselling services, and other technical support.

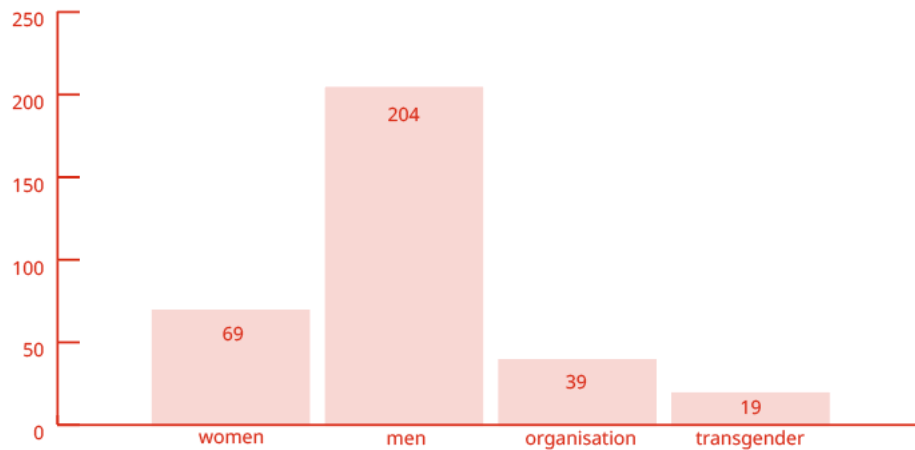

"If it wasn't for the support provided by DefendDefenders, I would have died a long time ago. I am alive because of DefendDefenders. Thank you DefendDefenders for the protection."

I thank DefendDefenders for the support I received that covered medical treatment at Buhinga hospital. I also received money for upkeep that I used to pay school fees for my children when I wasn't able to work."

"If it wasn't for DefendDefenders' support, we would have closed offices and not been able to engage different stakeholders. The support was very important, it gave a life and hope to our organisations to operate normally in exile."

Graph 2

Graph 2 shows the gender segregation of the applicants of protection grants. Men request the majority of protection grants. Societal structures make it easier for men to take risks, often allowing men to work on more hazardous issues. DefendDefenders developed a gender strategy to ensure deliberate efforts are put in place to reach out to more women.

Graph 3 shows the separation of protection grants per country. The majority of protection grant requests were made in Uganda, Sudan, Burundi, DRC, and South Sudan, as a result of these countries' socio-political, economic, and cultural realities.

Protection collaboration

DefendDefenders participates in a web of institutions with diverse experience and expertise in HRD protection at a regional and global level. We have set up a two-way referral mechanism with Human Rights Defenders Coalitions / Networks and are in partnerships with various NGOs, INGOs, diplomatic missions, and intergovernmental institutions at the UN and AU.

Hosting the secretariat of AfricanDefenders has given DefendDefenders access to a continent-wide systematic referral platform, through engagements with REDHAC, EAHRD-Net, NAHRDN, SAHRDN and WAHRDN. We refer HRD protection requests to and receive referrals from other international protection providers like the Journalists in Distress working group, Frontline Defenders, CRD, OMCT, ICORN, Freedom House and the ProtectDefenders.eu mechanism among others.

PREVENTIVE PROTECTION

Security management

We have designed preventive protection strategies that will help HRDs pre-empt potential risks as well as reduce the impact of risks on HRDs' well-being, work, and social environment. This includes capacity building, risk assessment and management tools, wellbeing interventions, and comprehensive trainings (e.g. security and safety management; monitoring, documenting, and reporting; stress management; organisational management).

Security Desks at ACHPR

During the sessions at the ACHPR, DefendDefenders conducts security management helpdesks, to support HRDs who have questions about the importance of security, and challenges of their human rights work. The clinic includes various activities, such as face to face engagements, organisational security policy assistance, and workshops et cetera.

Resourcing resilience through art

Artistic therapy helps HRDs cope with stress and trauma they encounter in their work through music, art, drama, poetry, conversation, or body movements. Benefits are: self-discovery, personal fulfilment, empowerment, relaxation, and stress relief. All DefendDefenders protection staff are able to facilitate artistic therapy sessions. For deeper and more complex challenges, we provide sessions with psychotherapists.

62 HRDs (22 male, 21 female, 5 transgender & 1 GNC) participated in artistic therapy sessions in 2019.

Resource Centre for HRDs

HRDs ICT needs effectively supported and addressed

DefendDefenders runs the Floribert Chebeya Resource Centre, where exiled HRDs can continue their human rights work. We provide computers, internet, reading materials, and a safe space for interacting with other HRDs. DefendersTech also organises clinics, organisational audits, and fixups. In 2019, 18 organisational audits and risk assessments took place.

A total of 201 HRDs (183 male and 19 female) visited the resource centre in 2019. The glaring difference in gender, corresponds with the fact that significantly less women than men go into exile, as African societies often do not approve of women living alone. Women also often take on more family responsibilities than men, leaving less time for such resources.

ADVOCACY, RESEARCH, AND COMMUNICATIONS

PARTICIPATION AT REGIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL PLATFORMS

Strengthened advocacy and HRDs influence at national, regional, and global level.

DefendDefenders promotes and protects the work and safety of HRDs through advocacy at the regional and international levels, especially at the UN Human Rights Council (HRC) and the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights (ACHPR). In 2018 we established an office in Geneva for our UN Representative, enabling us to engage with a multitude of UN bodies and mechanisms and other key players throughout the year.

In 2019, DefendDefenders actively participated in the 40th, 41st, and 42nd regular sessions of the HRC, and in the 64th and 65th ACHPR sessions. We also submitted a report on Kenya to the 35th session of the UPR working group, in collaboration with NCHRD-K. To ensure that HRDs' voices are heard at regional and international forums, we sponsored a total of 10 HRDs (6 women, 4 men) to attend HRC and ACHPR sessions, as well as a UPR pre-session. We also logistically supported five more HRDs.

DefendDefenders collaborates with advocacy partners to push for meaningful resolutions at the ACHPR and HRC. In 2019 we advocated for:

HRC 40

- A/HRC/40/19 – Human rights situation in South Sudan
- A/HRC/40/11 – Contribution of environmental HRDs to the enjoyment of human rights, environmental protection, and sustainable development

HRC 41

- A/HRC/41/01 – Human rights situation in Eritrea
- A/HRC/41/18 – Mandate of the Independent Expert (IE) on protection against violence and discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity

HRC 42

- A/HRC/42/26 – Human rights situation in Burundi and mandate of the Commission of Inquiry (CoI) on Burundi
- A/HRC/42/35 – Technical assistance and capacity-building to further improve human rights in Sudan and mandate of the IE on Sudan

Alors que la prochaine élection présidentielle burundaise se tiendra le 20 mai 2020, le contexte pré-électoral est susceptible de mener à une escalade des tensions politiques et à une nouvelle augmentation des violations des droits humains. Les ONG burundaises et internationales continuent de documenter des violations graves et systématiques. Le dernier rapport de la Commission d'enquête (CoI) confirme que des violations graves des droits de l'homme continuent à être commises dans un climat général d'impunité, et que ces violations ont une dimension « essentiellement politique ».

La CoI demeure le seul mécanisme à surveiller et à rendre des rapports publics sur la situation au Burundi. Le renouvellement de son mandat est nécessaire pour s'assurer que la situation est suivie de manière continue, alors que l'espace civique et démocratique restreint et l'intimidation exercée par les forces gouvernementales, le parti au pouvoir et les membres des Imbonerakure limitent les perspectives d'élections libres et équitables. Lors de cet événement parallèle, les panélistes discuteront de la situation et de ce que le Conseil devrait faire pour poursuivre efficacement son attention à la crise – y compris via une extension du mandat de la CoI.

Sudan: ensuring a credible HRC response

Side event at the 42nd Session of the UN Human Rights Council

Date 12 September 2019 Time 12:30 - 13:30

Location
Room XVI, Palais des Nations

Panellists
Ms. Azar Shamir, WHRD and independent consultant
Mr. Mohamed Ali Mossaad, African Centre for Justice and Peace Studies (ACJPS)
Ms. Jehanne Henry, Human Rights Watch (HRW)

Moderator
Ms. Estella Kabachwezi, DefendDefenders

For more information, please contact geneva@defenddefenders.org

This side event will bring together Sudanese human rights defenders (HRDs) and experts and HRC advocates to discuss what the Council should do to ensure: (1) a credible response to human rights violations and abuses, including those committed in response to peaceful mass protests; (2) monitoring and public reporting; and (3) support for systemic human rights reforms in the country.

In a joint letter published ahead of HRC42, Sudanese, regional and international civil society organisations outlined a path the HRC should take to address violations and abuses, ensure accountability, follow-up and support to regional processes, and meaningfully contribute to human rights reforms.

The Council still has the opportunity to make a difference, provided it sets the bar high and approaches the country's human rights challenges from a holistic perspective. HRC42 takes places as OHCHR is discussing the opening of a fully-mandated country office (with monitoring, reporting, and technical assistance and capacity-building functions) with the Government of Sudan.

RESEARCH

In 2019, we conducted several research missions in the region, resulting in three reports. The findings informed our strategic advocacy. DefendDefenders published three reports, one policy brief, and a podcast.

Given the increasing reforms in Ethiopia and the opening up of civic space in the country, we took the opportunity to conduct two research missions to assess the human rights situation in the country.

Turning the Page: Rebuilding Civil Society in Ethiopia identifies the situation, challenges, and needs of Ethiopian HRDs, and presents concrete recommendations to the Ethiopian government, civil society, and other relevant human rights actors.

Navigating Justice: Lawyers as Human Rights Defenders in Ethiopia and Somalia/Somaliland examines the work of lawyers to identify best practices, vulnerabilities, and needs in a rapidly changing environment. It also outlines how state authorities, donors, and non-governmental organisations can effectively promote the work of lawyers. The research was conducted in collaboration with Goldsmith University (UK) and also resulted in a policy brief and podcast.

"No Advice Without Knowledge: Scrutiny elements in the UN Human Rights Council's item 10 resolutions," analyses the content and evolution of resolutions adopted by the UN HRC in the framework of its agenda item 10, which is dedicated to technical assistance and capacity-building. The report has been used at the HRC, in particular in relation to countering China's efforts to deprive the HRC of its scrutiny role.

Police see lawyers as a threat. They believe that a lawyer is interfering in their cases. They must understand the rights of lawyers and people they are accusing."

COMMUNICATIONS

In 2019, we continued to share our monthly newsletters and increased our online presence.

We nominated 11 “HRDs of the month” – a monthly series to recognize HRDs from the sub-region and highlight their work.

Meet our HRDs of the month!

January: Yared Hailemariam, Ethiopia

“This is a huge chance for civil society. Because of bad laws and the previous government, our work was totally crippled and paralysed, but there are many good signs that our presence is welcome like it wasn’t before. It’s a bright future for civil society as a result of these changes.”

February: Mildred Apenyo, Uganda

“What inspires me is the vision, the idea, of a world where no one’s dignity has to be fought for. It’s such a terrible waste of time that so many wonderful, powerful women are spending all of their lives fighting things that are obviously unfair, and fighting what obviously should not exist.”

March: Kamal Ramadan, Kodi Marshall, and Ganja Ali, Sudan

“We wish to be the voice of the voiceless. We have grown up in a war zone. We have seen people dying, we’ve seen bombs, we’ve seen a lot of things – this is why we sing songs about freedom.”

April: Gabriel Mugaruka, DRC

“Let us break the silence, let us go ahead and fight for our rights.”

May: Abdul Aziz Muhamat, Sudan

“I have seen friends die before my eyes, due to the treatment given at Manus Island, and I could not sit around and watch as the Australian government destroyed the hope and life of these good men.”

June: Beatrice Githinji, Kenya

"After independence, the government promised to give back the land that was taken away from people before, however that did not happen."

July: Gladys Mmari, Tanzania

"We need to stop romanticising the idea of women empowerment, and co-empower one another to achieve the goals of an equal world."

August: Alaa Satir, Sudan

"The challenges that we, women, have faced in Sudanese society have been enormous – we have been the main casualties of Omar al-Bashir's regime."

September: Moses Kabaseke, DRC

"It's difficult for people that have not experienced atrocities to understand how that feels like. With my music, I try to capture the trauma and injustices experienced by so many."

October: Gladness Hemedi Munuo, Tanzania

"Shrinking space and crackdown on media causes huge problems in Tanzania – to me it's a thing that needs serious and immediate action."

November: Brenda Kugonza, Uganda

"As a defender, you lose friends and family members – they don't want to be associated with someone who brings them shame. We are viewed as women with bad manners and I struggle daily with discrimination."

December: Omot Agwa Okwoy, Ethiopia

"If you commit yourself to good things, you will make it. But if you don't want to do it, that's fine too, you should not be forced. Human rights work starts as an internal motivation."

In conjunction with AfricanDefenders, in November and December we conducted a campaign corresponding with International Women Human Rights Defenders Day, 16 Days of Activism, and Human Rights Day, Three women stories. The campaign included, a podcast, illustrations and short stories, portraying the reality of WHRDs and their courage.

CAPACITY BUILDING FOR HRDS

CLAIMING SPACES 2019: TACTICAL TOOLS FOR HRDS

Every year, DefendDefenders organises a week-long training event for HRDs in a different country in the East and Horn of Africa sub-region – Claiming Spaces: Tactical Tool for HRDs. In 2019, Claiming Spaces was held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, together with HRCO and AHRE. The flagship event welcomed more than 44 Ethiopian HRDs (15 women, 29 men), from all regions in Ethiopia, to enhance their skills. Overall, we trained a total of 136 HRDs (41 women, 95 men) in:

- Physical security and risk assessment
- Strategic advocacy and communications
- Monitoring, documentation and reporting
- Resource mobilisation
- Sustaining activism through self-care
- Digital security management

We welcomed 67 Ethiopian HRDs (19 female, 48 male) to the opening session, where we hosted a panel moderated by our Director of Programmes and Administration, Memory Bandera:

- Biniam Abate, Executive Director (HRCO)

Our protection team trained 130 HRDs (28 women, 53 men, 6 transgender) in monitoring, documenting, and reporting, as well as physical security.

Digital security trainings

DefendersTech strengthened 146 HRDs' (75 women, 36 men, 10 sexual minorities, 25 undisclosed) digital safety. 24 HRDs (14 women, 10 men) were visited in three follow ups, to assess the operationalisation of knowledge and ensure device and organisational security.

SAFETAG auditor training

13 technologists (5 women, 8 men) from Kenya, Uganda, and Tanzania participated in our SAFETAG auditor training.

Doc-IT became Ttaala

Towards the end of 2019, we evaluated our Doc-IT programme and rebranded it to Ttaala, meaning 'light' in Luganda. Ttaala is a comprehensive skills-building project, illuminating the world of digital tools and strategies to HRDs. We conducted three sessions in Uganda with a total of 36 HRDs (18 women, 18 men).

Doc-IT/Ttaala programme participant.

In 2019, we conducted one training on strategic advocacy and communication, particularly targeting diplomatic missions, for 20 HRDs (9 women, 11 men) in South Sudan. Representatives from the Dutch, European Union, German and French missions joined the first day of the workshop.

THE UBUNTU HUB CITIES INITIATIVE

What is the Ubuntu Hub Cities initiative?

The Ubuntu Hub Cities initiative is an Africa-based relocation mechanism for HRDs at risk across Africa. We temporarily relocate HRDs who have been subject to threats, violence and extreme pressure as a consequence of their human rights work. This ensures their safety and allows for a break from their highly stressful and dangerous environment, whilst they can continue their work by growing their network and expanding their skills and knowledge.

"In designing the concept of Ubuntu Hub Cities, we wanted to challenge the notion that African HRDs cannot be protected within their own continent."

Hassan Shire, Chairperson of AfricanDefenders

Operationalising the Ubuntu Hub City Initiatives

In line with the organisation's goal to protect HRDs, AfricanDefenders officially launched the Ubuntu Hub Cities Initiative in Tunisia, Côte D' Ivoire, and South Africa, reaching a total of six Ubuntu Hub Cities on the continent in February 2019.

Johannesburg, Pretoria, and Capetown, South Africa.

To mark the South Africa launch of the Ubuntu Hub Cities Initiative, AfricanDefenders and the Southern African Human Rights Defenders Network (SAHRDN) signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU). Human rights experts and CSO and academic representatives attended. We introduced the initiative to human rights experts, CSO representatives, academic institutions, and stakeholders, and initiated cooperation with the South African Department of Justice and Constitutional Development.

Abidjan, Cote D'ivoire.

The launch gathered about 50 representatives from the Ivorian civil society, government officials, regional and international organisations, national media and diplomatic missions. Hon. Aimee Zebeyoux, State Secretary in charge of human rights in Côte d'Ivoire, opened the session with extensive media coverage. An MoU was signed between AfricanDefenders and the Ivorian Coalition for Human Rights Defenders.

"Whether you are a journalist, an environmental activist, a whistleblower, a trade unionist, a lawyer, a member of a charitable association, or an occasional activist, you can be protected in Côte d'Ivoire."

Hon. Ai mee Zebeyoux, State Secretary in charge of human rights in Côte d'Ivoire

Tunis, Tunisia.

AfricanDefenders signed an MoU with the Tunisian Human Rights League (LTDH), its main implementing partner in Tunis. The launch was followed by a visit to the Arab Institute for Human Rights (AIHR) to explore further collaboration.

Strengthening the local implementation of the initiative

AfricanDefenders organised a workshop with local implementing partners and hub cities coordinators to develop a holistic and individualised programme to support HRDs, with an emphasis on their wellbeing during and after relocation. One of the results was a psychosocial programme.

- 16 participants (7 women, 9 men) from the different Ubuntu Hub Cities
- Shared best practices, lessons learnt, and HRD experiences before and after relocation
- 5 psychosocial care experts provided guidance

Protection under Ubuntu Hub Cities

Out of 73 support requests in 2019:

- 36 protection/relocation requests granted
- 20 requests referred
- 13 not qualified
- 3 withdrawn
- 1 remained under review

What do HRDs say about Ubuntu Hub Cities initiative?

"With the right support, risk can be an opportunity in disguise."

Nigerian HRD relocated to West Africa

"I was safely relocated, and able to continue my normal life. I am very thankful to AfricanDefenders for their endless support and giving me hope. They regularly checked on my wellbeing and safety, a precious thing for someone in my situation."

Tanzanian activist relocated to South Africa

"AfricanDefenders gave me what I desperately needed: assurance that I am not alone. I hope this does not end here, and that we can continue our strong working relationship."

Zimbabwean HRD relocated to South Africa

"I had to ask myself: am I prepared to go to prison? I did not want to stop my activism, so having access to a relocation mechanism allowed me to be safe, while continuing my activism."

HRD relocated under the Ubuntu Hub Cities initiative

ALL AFRICAN HUMAN RIGHTS DEFENDERS CONVENTION

New strategies were developed, resulting in an updated plan of action for AfricanDefenders, the Kampala Plan of Action +10.

ADVOCACY & STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

Advocacy at ACHPR & UN HRC

AfricanDefenders strengthened its engagement with the ACHPR and UN HRC. Recognising the importance of providing HRDs with a platform to voice their concerns, we facilitated 12 HRDs (8 women, 4 men) to attend the respective sessions.

Panels and Side Events

- NGO forum preceding 64th Ordinary Session of the African Commission: panel on situation of HRDs working on people on the move and exiled HRDs, organised by AfricanDefenders and International Service for Human rights (ISHR)
- Chaired panel on presentation and adoption of resolutions and recommendations submitted to the African Commission

New African Union partnership

AfricanDefenders initiated an MoU with AGA to provide HRDs with a platform in core decision-making. We conducted a follow up mission to Ethiopia in December 2019.

Engaging Ethiopia

Following the appointment of Abiy Ahmed as prime minister, AfricanDefenders and DefendDefenders met with key stakeholders in Ethiopia in January 2019. We shared analyses on the human rights situation and discussed future cooperation. In December, the Ethiopian Human Rights Defenders coalition was launched.

Solidarity with Sudan

Sudan saw historic changes in 2019. In October, AfricanDefenders and DefendDefenders visited Sudan to express solidarity with civil society, engage relevant institutions, and lay foundations for further engagement and advocacy. We highlighted the importance of inclusion of civic space and human rights issues, as well as women's representation in the transition period.

Advocating for Cameroon

AfricanDefenders closely monitored Cameroon's ongoing crisis. At ACHPR65, we sponsored Cameroonian HRDs' participation, conducted bilateral meetings and strategic advocacy, and urged the ACHPR to address the serious and systematic human rights violations in an open letter. We addressed a letter of protest to Cameroon's president to end attacks and reprisals against international and regional human rights organisations. Furthermore, we organised a side event regarding Cameroon, featuring Un Monde Avenir and Cameroon Women's Peace Movement (CAWOPEM), moderated by Hon. Comm. Remy Ngoy, Country Special Rapporteur on Cameroon. Particularly the Anglophone crisis and ways to support local HRDs were discussed.

Consultations with the UN Special Rapporteur on Human Rights Defenders

Together with DefendDefenders, AfricanDefenders facilitated consultations between the UN Special Rapporteur on the situations of HRDs, Michel Forst, and HRDs from East and West Africa. The aim of the consultations was to discuss the issue of impunity for violations, threats, and reprisals against HRDs as a consequence of their work.

AfricanDefenders supports a project initiated by the UN Special Rapporteur on the situation of HRDs to translate a summary of the UN Declaration into more than 50 languages, including many African languages.

CAPACITY DEVELOPMENT

In 2019, AfricanDefenders equipped HRDs with strategic tools and tactics:

- Trained 14 Cameroonian HRDs (7 women, 7 men) as digital security trainers;

INSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT

MONITORING, EVALUATION, AND DOCUMENTATION

In 2019, our internal monitoring and evaluation (M&E) was geared towards an effective, integrated, and coherent programme framework, to deepen the impact of our work. We conducted two internal monitoring exercises, trained 33 staff members in M&E, and evaluated our strategic plan. By mid-2019, we had reached an average of 80% performance and the evaluation guided the development of DefendDefenders' 2021-2025 Strategy. All new programmes now have M&E frameworks. To increase the effectiveness of our programmes, we also undertook follow-up and documentation processes. Additionally, we followed up with HRDs and HRD organisations all over Uganda that took part in our trainings and initiatives. We evaluated how they benefitted and what still needs to be improved. The conclusions were integrated into our planning and trainings.

STAFF DEVELOPMENT

To improve staff performance, we regularly organised internal staff trainings, e.g. on our digital security curriculum and various IT programmes we use. Our staff also has ample external study opportunities, especially DefendersTech participated in a variety of courses and certificates (Udemy, Microsoft Azure Solutions, Agile Practitioner Certificate, CompTIA CySA+ and CompTIA A+ certifications, CISSP certification, and more).

ORGANISATIONAL UPDATES

In September 2019, DefendDefenders migrated from G-Suite to Office 365 to consolidate fragmented services, integrate user directories between on-premise and cloud directories, and improve manageability, recoverability, security, and stability.

PARTNERSHIPS

In October 2019, we held our annual developmental partners meeting, where we brought together donors and members of the board to present our work and financial standing for the year. We also embarked on a partnership with Civil Rights Defenders in October to learn from each other. This resulted in developing a management system, a gender strategy, various workshops and learning visits.

BOARD MEMBERS MEETING

During our annual board members meeting in October 2019, the chairmanship was handed over to Ms. Sophie Kyagulanyi from Dr. Livingstone. Additionally, Mr. Vital Nshimirimana and Dr. Zahara Nampewo were introduced as new board members. The board examined the activities of the organisation, progress of the current strategy, and the financial standing of the organisation.
